PRESS RELEASE

RaVeN officially started with a kick-off meeting in Poland

The RaVeN partners had the first opportunity to meet in person for the official kick-off meeting of the project, on 17 – 18 October, in Kraków – Poland. It was a two-day event to discuss the milestones to be achieved and the timeline to deliver the results, hosted by AGH University of Science and Technology-coordinating institution of the project.

The agenda started with an overview about administrative, financial and management issues, presented by the coordinating team from AGH University. After that, the education partners were invited to present their work plan and timeline with regards to students recruitment, didactics, as well as the Summer School – which are crucial components in the development of the project.

On the following day, the innovation and entrepreneurship components of the RaVeN were discussed and commented by the partners, followed by the structure and development of the MSc Thesis. The agenda was concluded with an overview about the promotion activities towards students and other target audiences.

Now the consortium is ready and aligned to implement the tasks of the work packages, and deliver an added value master's program for future Mining Engineers!
